SHADYSIDE BRANCH

FOREWORD

The preparation and distribution of this brochure by the Shadyside Board of Trade has a two-fold purpose: (1) to give newcomers to our community pertinent information providing quick and easy access to the various contacts so essential in establishing their homes; (2) to bring our established residents abreast of all developments which have contributed to the growth of Shadyside in recent years.

In order to achieve this dual purpose, the scope of contents has been broadened somewhat. Listings contained herein cover the various phases of our community life: civic, commercial, educational, fraternal, municipal, religious, and social. All possible care was exercised in compiling these listings and any omissions are purely unintentional.

With an impending change in the telephone dialing system, digits have been substituted for the various exchange letters. Thus, "OR 6" is shown as "676" and "ME 3" as "633," etc. Our area code is 614

It is our sincere hope that all readers of this booklet will find its contents both informative and useful.

To our newcomers, we extend a hearty welcome. To the merchants listed herein who may not yet be members of the Shadyside Board of Trade, as well as to all interested residents, we also extend a cordial invitation to join our ranks so that, together, we may continue to further the betterment of our community where, already in actual fact, good living is a habit.

HISTORICAL HIGHLIGHTS

The area embracing Shadyside and immediate vicinity is extremely rich in historical lore, forming as it does part of the gateway to the Northwest Territory and assuming noteworthy significance and importance in the growth and development of our country.

In the early accounts of invasions by white men is recorded the trip of George Washington and his group of surveyors who came down the Ohio River to Fort Dille and crossed into Round Bottom, on the West Virginia side. A tablet erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution on State Route 7, north of Powhatan, commemorates this expedition by Washington and his men. It was at Fort Dille, opposite Moundsville, that the first settlement in this vicinity was established in 1793.

The land on which Shadyside is now located was first owned by John Hopkins, of New York, 172 years ago—13 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

In 1799, government surveyors came to Fort Henry—now Wheeling—to survey the rich lands in Eastern Ohio. In the party was David McElherren, a young Englishman who took for his pay 2200 acres of land lying along the river and extending from what is now South Bellaire to Wegee Creek.

McElherren laid out the town which was to grow into the present community of Shadyside and helped establish the Belmont county seat just over the northern corporation line in what today is Avondale.

The first court session of Belmont county was held November 24, 1801, with McElherren, Jacob Repshire, and David Lockwood on the bench and 23 men serving on the grand jury. The courthouse was Judge Repshire's log cabin and the jail was the barn in the rear of his home.

Political lobbying for the removal of the county seat to Newellstown began in June, 1803. By the simple expedient of changing the name of Newellstown to St. Clairsville, in honor of Governor St. Clair, the latter's consent was gained and in 1804 all county records were transferred to St. Clairsville.

With the coming of white settlers in increasing numbers, the early history of this area became studded with familiar names borne by present-day inhabitants—Ambler, Cochran, Futhey, Grant, Heath, Hutchens, Rodefer, Sammons, and Smith, among others.

Shadyside acquired its own name quite unintentionally late in the nineteenth century after James Leisure purchased the Robert Hutchens farm. Leisure planted evergreen trees along the turnpike bordering his land and hung up a small white board on which he painted the word "Shadyside." In 1879, when the narrow-gauge railroad came through this valley, a small platform was laid opposite Leisure's gateway. The train, thereafter, stopped at "Shadyside Station" and thus did a pioneer resident unwittingly name the town.

Shadyside is located in one of the country's finest coal regions, with some of the nation's largest mines being located nearby. Large deposits of salt, as well as concentrated brine, also underlie that part of Belmont county to the south of Shadyside.

The growth of Shadyside on all levels of community life has been especially pronounced during the past two decades. New school buildings, a new municipal building, a swimming pool, one new church edifice and another under construction, many additional private homes and new business establishments all stand as monuments to the progressiveness of a citizenry which has made Shadyside one of the most attractive residential areas in the Ohio Valley where the accent is heavy on gracious living.

TRANSPORTATION

With the establishment of settlements along the Ohio riverfront, early modes of transportation included horseback, covered wagons or prairie schooners, horse and buggy rigs, and boats.

The first horse-car service was started in this area in 1865, with electric trolley cars making their first Ohio Valley appearance in 1887.

A narrow gauge railroad came through the valley and into Shadyside in 1879. It was picturesque in all respects and carried the impressive name of "Bellaire, Zanesville and Cincinnati" although it never went near the Queen City. Its initials were facetiously translated by wags of the day to mean "Bent, Zigzag and Crooked." A trip from Bellaire to Zanesville took ten hours. Later, the name of the railroad was changed to "O. R. and W." and this was translated into "Old, Rusty and Weedy." But it served the area for more than a half century before the last run was made up Shadyside's Central Avenue on May 30, 1931.

In the early phases of its history, present State Highway No. 7 was a dirt road over which cattle were driven to market. It was officially opened as a major link with the nation's highway network on October 17, 1931. No. 7 now connects, in the immediate area, with State Routes 147 and 214 at Bellaire and U. S. Routes 40 and 250 at Bridgeport.

The Cooperative Transit Company, furnishing service from Shadyside to Bellaire, Bridgeport, and Wheeling, came into existence in 1933 when workers used their savings to buy properties of the old Wheeling Traction Company. In addition, the B. & P. Bus Company provides service to Powhatan Point, 11 miles to the south.

Bus service to distant points is available through the Atlantic Greyhound lines. The Ohio County airport, approximately 12 miles northeast of Wheeling, offers facilities for air travel.

A branch line of the Pennsylvania Railroad runs through Shadyside, parallel to the river. Over this line moved untold quantities of material and equipment for various plants built since 1942 on sites located south of Shadyside. The railroad line continues to play an important part in the economic growth and development of this area, serving industrial plants and coal mines as well.

With the Ohio River locked and dammed, maintaining a definite pool stage, water transportation is provided on a large scale in the Shadyside area. Important use of the river is made by producers of coal, petroleum products, chemicals, and power. Mills in the area receive raw materials and ship finished products via water to points along the Mississippi and to other inland waterways which connect with the Ohio River.

As the transition from bicycles to horseless carriages to modern-day automobiles developed, highway improvements were effected and more are planned. The use of car pools, spurred by World War II rationing of tires and gasoline, is still continued by many Shadyside workers employed at out-of-town points. Some of these workers and their vehicles are transported across the river to West Virginia by ferry boats operating south of Shadyside.

CHURCHES

The Methodist Church of Shadyside was organized at lower Wegee in 1843, with the second building of that place being moved to Shadyside and rededicated August 13, 1899. Dedicatory services at the present beautiful structure were held March 4, 1917.

The First Presbyterian Church was started in 1851 under the name of the Wegee Presbyterian, with the building located one mile southwest of Shadyside. The organization was effected March 31, 1852, with 12 members.

On July 5, 1896, the building was washed away in a flood and for more than two years the Wegee members attended the First Presbyterian Church of Bellaire.

In October, 1898, a committee was appointed by the Presbytery of St. Clairsville to organize the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, this constituting a reorganization of the Wegee group. A church building was dedicated March 6, 1899. Remodeled three times since its erection, the building was razed recently and a new edifice is currently under construction. It is to be completed and dedicated in the spring of 1962.

The First Christian Church was instituted in Shadyside in 1905 and its steady growth is manifested by the attractive edifice located on E. 39th at Short Street. Last year, sandblasting of the exterior and re-landscaping of the church grounds were completed.

The congregation of the Church of Christ was set up in Shadyside on June 7, 1907. Plans for a building were quickly formed, with the structure being dedicated in July, 1909.

St. Mary's Church was canonically established as a parish for the Catholic people of the community on March 1, 1946, when by an official decree issued by the Most Rev. John King Mussio, Bishop of Steubenville, it was elevated from its status as a mission church.

A frame structure erected in 1934 was used by the congregation until 1951, when the basement of the present beautiful edifice was completed and used for the first time. The rectory was built in 1948, with the basement being used for all services until 1957 when construction of the superstructure was completed. The church building was dedicated July 14, 1957.

The Old Wegee Methodist Church was built on ground deeded by Mr. John Albright in 1834 to a group of men for church purposes. The first structure was made of logs, but after a number of years this was torn down and replaced by a frame church. This has since been remodeled and improved.

The United Holiness Church was originally known as "The Old Church of God" when it was founded about ninety years ago. Later, it was moved from its site at the Pipe Creek Cemetery to lower Pipe Creek and became a Pilgrim Holiness Church. For the past fifteen years it has been a United Holiness Church.

The Dilles Methodist Church originally began as a Community Center under the supervision of a Deaconess and was started by the Woman's Division of the Methodist Church. In 1958, it was organized as a Methodist Church and became a member of the Northeast Ohio Conference.

The present Pipe Creek Methodist Church was dedicated October 29, 1911. The church was built by the men of the community on a small tract of land given by Mr. W. J. Berry. Many improvements have been made during recent years.

SCHOOLS

Plans for a school in the Shadyside local school district began as early as 1800 when the Lockwoods gave a plot of ground in Dilles Bottom for a school and burying ground. It was a 99-year lease, and the ground reverted to private ownership in 1891.

The first school house in Dilles was built of logs. Seats were of hewed planks, desks were made of shelves on each side of the room, and pens were made of quills. A large wood-burning fireplace in one end of the room furnished the heat.

The Knight Manufacturing Company became a thriving enterprise in 1942 when government contracts for some essential items needed during the World War II period spurred its activities. In 1946 the firm acquired its present building at the east end of 40th Street. It produces a line of kiln cars for the ceramic industry, rebuilds and reconditions mechanical equipment for the mining industry, and does custom machine work and welding.

In 1950, the Kaiser-Fraser Company built a local plant to produce metal stampings for its line of automobiles manufactured in Michigan. Some custom stamping work was also carried on. The firm later became the Pressed Metals Division of Willys Motors, Inc., and continued operations under that name until it was taken over by the Metropolitan Stamping Company, a subsidiary of International Harvester. Currently employing over 300 workers, Metropolitan Stamping produces parts for trucks and farm equipment manufactured by its parent firm.

Construction of a super-power plant at Dilles, five miles south of Shadyside, was started in 1942 by the Ohio Public Service Company. Three complete units were in operation by early 1950 and in May of that year OPS merged with The Ohio Edison Company. Since that time, two additional units have been constructed. The plant, known as the R. E. Burger Station, is now one of the largest and most modern in the entire Ohio Edison system. Power is transmitted from the Dilles plant to the Massillon, Ashland, and Alliance areas.

Several coal mines were operated for many years near Shadyside, the largest of these being the Webb Mine located on Wegee Creek, about two miles west of the community in which the main office was located. The nearest mine still operating is Mine No. 3 of the North American Coal Corp., Powhatan Division at Dilles, approximately six miles south of the Shadyside corporation limits.

Years ago, Shadyside also had an enamel factory and glass manufacturing plant, both of which were destroyed by fire.

While present-day industrial operations within the boundaries of Shadyside largely reflect post-war growth, the potential for further industrial development of the community and its immediate surrounding areas still remains great.

The many skilled workers who call Shadyside their home have contributed greatly to the industrial growth of this section of the Ohio Valley through gainful employment in plants on both sides of the river. Their families number those who, assuredly, will prove capable of continuing the march of progress in the area of which Shadyside is such a significant part.

MUNICIPAL HISTORY

The Village of Shadyside was incorporated December 13, 1912, with a special election being held to name its first officers, headed by Rossell Sammons as mayor.

Elected to Council were Dan Gullley, George Keyser, J. E. Howell, W. T. Jones, Charles Ralston and H. F. Wiedman, with George E. McKelvey serving as clerk. David Davis was treasurer and Clifford Belt (now Judge Belt) the first solicitor.

The new village was quick to recognize certain pressing needs and reacted accordingly. Within several months following incorporation, Shadyside's Volunteer Fire Department was organized. Its first truck was purchased in 1919 and a new one was bought in 1933, one year after reorganization of the department was effected.

The first firemen of the community established a pattern for efficiency and quick response to calls which extends to the present unit of 35 members, skilled in the operation of three fire trucks and an emergency squad car, and trained in first-aid techniques. Two of the three trucks and the emergency vehicle are radio-equipped for two-way communication. The fire alarm system, consisting of 20 boxes and a central control unit, was installed in 1948, with two boxes added since.

In order to supply one of its basic needs, Shadyside established its waterworks in 1915, with the Board of Public Affairs being formed in May of that year. The circular, red brick structure built on the west bank of the Ohio River eventually was replaced by a modern water plant, located on Riverside Drive, which went into operation December 10, 1946.

In line with its progressiveness as much as in compliance with law, Shadyside also built a $325,000 sewage disposal plant which began operating in February, 1956.

The attractive Municipal Building on E. 39th Street was dedicated July 22, 1955, providing enlarged quarters and modern facilities for all departments of the village which were transferred from the old Community Building—formerly a schoolhouse—after the latter had been used for official purposes since 1934.

A highly efficient Police Department serves Shadyside which enjoys a splendid reputation as a well-ordered community. The first police cruiser was purchased in 1951 while the radio system, tied in with Bellaire, Bridgeport and Martins Ferry, went into operation in November, 1957. In addition to the base station and the radios on motorized equipment, two portable units are also used.

An energetic crew manning the Service Department capably handles its various phases of maintenance work on streets and alleys as well as keeping up the appearance of the Central Avenue parkway, along which a new lighting system was installed in recent years.
